

22 CHILDREN SEEK CHANCE AT SCHOOL AS XMAS GIFT

Head of Scholarship Section of White-Williams Foundation Says Many Poor Little Ones Prefer Education to Toys

Whether or not what you are praying for will be in your Christmas stocking is all a matter of viewpoint, of course. Some boys and girls in Philadelphia now, for instance, are hoping Santa Claus will see fit to drop a wrist watch or a diamond ring or something into that well-known article of wearing apparel that hangs traditionally by the Yuletide hearth.

But others. Well, there are twenty-two boys and girls in Philadelphia who are asking as a Christmas gift only the privilege to remain in school.

The fact became known today through Miss E. T. Shipley, head of the scholarship section of the White-Williams Foundation, which features as one of its works helping poor children to get an education in public or parochial schools.

"The finest presents in the world," Miss Shipley said, "would not please these children as much as the privilege of going on in school. We have twenty-two applications on hand now from boys and girls who are called upon to stop school because parents need their support or have already stopped because of this same necessity."

Miss Shipley went on to explain just what the White-Williams Foundation does to meet the need of as many children as its funds will permit.

"A scholarship," she said, "is given to such children who seem really earnest and ambitious. This averages in amount to about $5 a week. When awarded, it is given to the child to pay his own expenses in his own home, that the burden may be lifted from his parents."

"Some of the scholarships are given simply to enable the children to complete their way through the eighth grade, but others may take the boys and girls through the whole four-year course at high school, trade school or through some special vocational course."

In a few cases we have sent the children to boarding school.

Miss Shipley quoted one little girl who came in the office and said "Oh, I would like to be some kind of educated." She showed a letter, which described the case of John. John is in the first year of high school, doing three and his father is dead. In addition to this his mother works in a mill and most mill workers are on very "slim" part time now. Although it breaks his heart, John must leave school unless he is one of the fortunate who can be reached by the White-Williams Foundation.

"Emma" is a little girl described in a letter from a teacher as still crying because she had to leave school. But in the hope that she can get back she is studying algebra at night.

"Peter" is another victim of circumstances. Six weeks ago his mother died suddenly. Five children were left with Peter at fourteen, the eldest. Just at present he works for a butcher before and after school and on Saturdays, and gets three dollars a week.

BOY FATALLY SCALDED

Youngster Playing About Mill Is Killed in Accident

Oliver Palmer, four years old, of 4854 Josephine street, died yesterday in the Frankford Hospital as the result of having been scalded while playing about the exhaust pipe of a steam engine in the mill of Joseph Greer, Torresdale avenue and Gillingham street.

Oliver and his twin brother, Milton, together with a number of other boys, were playing in the mill yard near the pipe. Adam Young, the engineer, had been repairing the engine and having completed the repairs turned on the steam. The rush of steam and boiling water covered the boy from head to foot and he fell screaming to the ground. Lawrence Hirt and Walter Lawless, two older boys, hearing the boy's screams and cries of his brother, climbed the fence and came to his assistance. After carrying the boy out of the yard the patrol of the Fifteenth district took him to the Frankford Hospital. Today Young was held without bail for the action of the coroner.

Announcing Oldsmobile 4

Built to extend the Fame of a Good Name

The Oldsmobile "4" is now ready for your inspection at our salesrooms.

And it will pay you to approach this car with an open mind and to satisfy yourself as to its very apparent better value.

So firm are we in our conviction that this addition to the Oldsmobile line crowns every previous idea of moderate-priced four-cylinder value, that we prefer to leave the verdict to your personal inspection.

See this car. Observe its evident virtues of permanent style, sane design and sturdier construction. Note how it retains the same pleasing lines, the same close attention to body details that have always emphasized Oldsmobile beauty and comfort.

Ride in the car. Drive it yourself. Because when you actually drive the car yourself or ride in it you will appreciate that these surface excellences are but outward signs of its unseen virtues.

In looking over the Oldsmobile "4" we purposely ask you to forget any preconceived standard you have had of value. Because we believe the Oldsmobile "4" is going to sweep aside every precedent of four cylinder goodness that you may have had of any car of like class.

SPECIFICATIONS

Model 43 A

Check carefully the special quality features that bear on easier riding and greater safety; such as the unusual length of wheel base, the added strength of frame and cross members, the extra long springs and low center of gravity. Note how the whole car is cradled for better balance and comfort. The accessibility of the motor and of all parts that may need occasional adjustment, is a pleasing element of easy care and low after-cost.

Order your Winter's Coal from Newton now

How we are protecting Newton customers from coal worries this winter

Before the streets are thick with snow and coated with ice—get your winter's coal order in Newton's hands. Then you will be safe—and sure. Snow will flood us with orders—every one of them urgent. Street conditions may retard deliveries, and then there will be an avalanche of frantic telephone calls. That is just the sort of situation from which we want to protect Newton customers. There is a slight improvement in the quantity of coal coming into our yards, and we are delivering thousands of tons to our customers daily. If you place your entire winter's order with us now and thus enable us to determine just how big a job we have on hand this winter, we can so portion out the coal we are receiving that all Newton customers will be taken care of. Our plan is to supply every customer with enough coal to carry him along and then to fill in the balance of the order as more coal arrives from the mines. In this way we can keep Newton customers in coal all winter. Those who order their full winter's coal requirements from us now are assured of getting all they need. Twenty-seven Newton yards (one of which is near your home) supply coal in all sections of the city and—
